Crane's stationery by the quire and envelopes by the bunch at the Chronicle office. Nothing made better than Crane's.

Alexander King was here from Overton county the first of the week visiting friends. He was one of the Cumberland county volunteer company.

Hardin Smith and family moved Saturday from the J. A. Alred house, near the Reed & Smith store, to the A. J. McClarny house on the west side of town, and E. O. Hembree and family moved from the G. A. Taylor house on Main street to the house vacated by Mr. Smith.

Get rice paper for wrapping butter at the Chronicle office; it cost about one-fourth cent to the pound and is much better than any other wrapping daper you can get.

Miss Amanda Kemmer, who is teaching the Chestnut Hill school, was in town Saturday and Sunday, visiting relatives and friends. Miss Kemmer has been of the teaching force of the county for many years and she is rendering most excellent service to the little folks in the Chestnut Hill neighborhood. The fact that she is a hearty lover of the work accounts very largely for the splendid results she is obtaining.

Miss May Brown, daughter of Esq. J. F. Brown, Crab Orchard, received a telegram last week notifying her that she had been elected as a teacher in the city school at Buhl, Idaho, at $100 a month and urged that she come at once. Miss Brown is undecided if she will accept the place.

No pen surpasses the WATERMAN's sold at the Chronicle office. It is likely you do not know what a really good and satisfactory fountain pen is. They are all guaranteed.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Holloway were over from Clarkrange for the week end visiting with friends.

Lut' or Blankenship, who has been in North Dakota for some months, arrived home last week.

Miss Antonette Jackson has moved her music room from the Mecca theatre to the Red Cross room adjoining the DeGolia residence.

Alred Melton, who lives four miles north of Dorton, has had remarkable success growing sorghum this year. He had in only one-fourth of an acre but from that small patch made 111 gallons of sorghum. Who can equal or beat it? We would be glad to publish other items of large yields of sorghum or any other crop. Mr. Melton seems to not only be a good hand to grow sorghum but he is credited with having grown corn that was estimated at 75 bushels to the acre. He is said to be developing a splendid farm. Much of his success, however, we are informed, is due to the energy and good judgment of Duncan Pollard, who is his constant helper.

Bring your crippled watches and broken jewelry to the Chronicle office and Bishop will have them repaired for you and you can pay the bill when the article returns. We can save you money on a new watch if you want one.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

There will be regular services at the Congregational Church every second and fourth Sundays in each month morning at 11 o'clock, evening at 8 o'clock. Sunday School at 10 a. m. Everybody welcome.

SEE VALUE OF MOTOR TRUCK

French Business Men Realize That Their System of Freight Transportation Is Obsolete.

That the war brought to France an object lesson in the utility of the motortruck as a means of freight transportation appears in plans now under way to develop a long haul system. It is hoped thereby to quicken the movement of goods and lessen the impatience of various business interests with the slowness of railway and waterway traffic. The practicability of the motortruck as a freight carrier was a revelation to Frenchmen of business who had depended in normal times on what would be held an abnormally slow service. From Havre to Paris by boat means often a journey of at least three months, and at the quickest, which requires special arrangement with the government, takes about four weeks. Commenting on railroad transportation between Paris and the seaports, a Paris business man is reported as saying that from Havre one must expect a delay of one or two months, from Bordeaux a delay of two or three months, and that "when goods for Paris reach Marseilles they stay there." The humorous exaggeration illustrates the condition which is turning Frenchmen to the hopeful project of long hauls by motortrucks, a solution which will probably develop because the nation is already provided with excellent roads.

REMINDS HER OF SALMON

American Traveler in Europe Confesses She Would Have Welcomed Dish Once Despised.

Elisabeth Fraser, a traveler and writer, was talking at a diplomatic reception in Paris about her recent experiences in Vienna.

"It is difficult," said Miss Fraser, "to satisfy one's hunger there, even at hotels that cost $15 a day.

"Eating my unappetizing dish of hashed turnips, which frequently composed the principal dish of the menu, I thought regretfully of the salmon I once disdained on a Canadian trip."

Miss Fraser laughed.

"I was traveling in the back country of Canada, where salmon—baked, broiled, in salad, creamed, as cutlets—figured at every meal and became very monotonous.

"Is there nothing else for breakfast? I asked the hotelkeeper one morning as a whole fish and pot of mustard was put before me.

"Nothing else?" the man exclaimed. "Why, there's salmon enough there for six, ain't there?"

"Yes," I admitted, "but I do not want salmon."

"Well, then," my host replied curtly, "fire into the mustard."

Retrieving Barbed Wire.

The problem of retrieving the buried and broken barbed wire on the battlefields of Flanders and northern France is being tackled by the British war office salvage committee, and a machine for the purpose has been invented and built which is thus described:

One truck and trailer carries the whole of the plant, which can work on the most uneven ground. A stout wire rope with a number of hooks is worked by a winch. As the barbed wire is drawn up it passes through two sets of rollers, and the salvaged metal appears in blocks from one foot to 18 inches square, and weighing from 70 to 80 pounds. For smelting it sells for about $25 a ton. The staff in charge of the scheme thinks that there are 100,000 tons that can be removed, and if that is the aggregate weight the cost of the 40 outfits said to have been ordered should be amply justified.

Ye Old-Time Telephone Girl.

"Time was before the experts came along, and, in vulgar business parlance, 'sold efficiency' to the telephone companies, when the telephone was a real convenience," John Ambruster relates in Everybody's. "The historic instance of a lady who rang up central and said: 'I am just stepping over to Mrs. Brewsters' for a few minutes to get her doughnut recipe—she's Main 227—and I'll leave the receiver off so you can hear if the baby cries and let me know.' In my home town we used to ask central where the fire was and who was dead and did she think there was any mail for us."

Nine Months on Warship.

A naval man, home on leave, was discussing Lord Jellicoe's tribute to all ranks who fought at Jutland, and he revealed what seems to the lower deck the highest form of heroism.

It was not the fighting, not the anxious watching day and night—that is what a naval man is there for, he showed.

"I've been 19 years in the navy, but if you'd ever told me before the war that I should ever have lived for nine months on board ship without a break, I should have dropped down dead," he said. "But I've just done it," he added.—London Chronicle.
